

Retrofitting and SEER Matching Explained

Did you know R-22 (also known as Freon®) was phased out of production in 2020?

Air conditioners can still be serviced with recycled R-22 moving forward, but costs may rise as production ceases and supplies become scarce. Good news! Older air conditioning systems using R-22 can be retrofitted to utilize alternative refrigerants!

Retrofitting an air conditioner to be compatible with alternative refrigerants makes future repairs easier and faster, decreasing costs. However, it's important to ensure all units are the same SEER level – having an air conditioner and furnace with different efficiency ratings can wear on the system and possibly cause a breakdown.

With 2-10 Home Buyers Warranty (2-10 HBW), homeowners enjoy the industry's most comprehensive HVAC coverage, including SEER matching and retrofitting, without additional out-of-pocket costs.

If an HVAC unit breaks down...

WITH A HOME WARRANTY
FROM 2-10 HBW:

Homeowner pays

out-of-pocket for a covered HVAC system repair/replacement, including retrofitting and SEER matching to maintain system compatibility

WITHOUT A HOME WARRANTY:

Homeowner pays

$6,400+*

out-of-pocket for a full HVAC system replacement

Don't worry, 2-10 HBW will retrofit up to two existing units to use alternative refrigerants if needed and upgrade the entire HVAC system to the current required SEER level when necessary if affecting a covered repair. Without a home warranty from 2-10 HBW, it could cost over $6,400 to replace an HVAC system.
